> > THE ROUTE TO WESTERN CHINA.

The manager of a toa estate at Sudiya writes

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE AND THE

on the route from Bangoon to Western China: -"I am anxious to call attention to what has always appeared to me, during my residence in Upper Assam, as a better, though apparently little considered, route than that through Burman-namely, the one that for the most part of the way nature has made for us, and which tional Bank of Winthrop had been entered by already belongs to us. I speak of the Brokenspootra river. To any one looking at the man, the advantages of this track are evident, when the fact is taken into consideration that the Brahmapootra is pavigable all the year through as lar up as Driroughur, about 27 deg. 30 min. to steamers drawing five feet, and up to Endiya. close under 28 degreto vessels drawing about three feet of water i for the Irrawaddy. I read in your article, is only navigable up to Bhamo, and for vessels only drawing three feet of water. Now, Boamo lies under 24 deg., I believe; so we lave the Brahmapootra navigable 250 miles. say, further north and nearer China and Thibet than the Irrawaddy. Again, the distance to the sea from Sudiya, notwithstanding the above gain of 250 miles, is, I should think, almost less than the distance from Bhame to the sea. owing to the southerly position of the mouth of the Irrawaddy at Rangoon. Then it must be remembered that this route is really in our own possession, and in a settled and peaceable district, and that, consequently, the quantity of unsettled country that remains between us and Ohing in the one direction, and Thibet in the other, is comparatively very little, and only inhabited by the most primitive of savages who have just lately, in our Naga Expedition, shown now little they need be considered as an obstacle to any real effort. Having the river to Sudiva, of course, means less expense in roadmaking than the Bhamp fonte would require; and road-making in those climates is a neverending business, owing to the rapid growth of jungle encroaching upon the roads. It must not be forgotten that the very few explorers whohave tried this track have tried, it with serious odds against them individually. Mr. T. T. Cooper the last, was a stranger, and thought to had (according to his book, the 'Mishmee Hills') travelled a great distance when he arrived at Sudiya, and managed to find matter for almost three-quarters of his book before he got there. When I say that I am one among several managers who live in isolated teafactories within twelve or fourteen miles of Sudiya, without the need of any protection other than the small frontier outpost of 100 sepoys at Sudiya, affords, I think it will go a long way to show that the route I propose, from the fact of the settled condition of the natives alone, for such a much longer distance The Daily News says it may now be assumed than by the Bhamo route, recommends it to The first and third prisoners were ordered to moned to Peking to appear before the Emperor, banks to close or withdraw under penalty of son is already advanced, it is expected that the ungracious reception more consideration than it has received. The first edition was published at Brooklyn, New York, in 1855, and the type was entirely sot up by Whitman himself.

Mesers. Maomillan will shortly publish a new work, by Mrs. Oliphant, entitled "The Makers" of Florence." The object of the book is to present to the many lovers of Florence a vivid picture of her past life and of the men who made her greatness. This is not attempted with the profound research of serious history, but rather with the lighter hand of a biopropher affectionately interested in the many noble figures which crowd the scene.

Michelet, the historian and poet, who died last February at Hyères, desired in his will that be might be buried in the nearest churchyard. This wish has given rise to a lawsuit; on one side Midme. Michelet contends that the body of her husband should be brought to Paris, as he wrote his will in Paris. The son-in-law of the deceased contends that the remains should not be transferred, as Michelet evidently meant the churchyard nearest the place where he died. It is evident that had Michelet intended anything else he would have named the churchyard, to wit, Père Lachaise. It is lamentable that this dispute should have arisen; nor can one well conceive why Mdme. Michelet should be so anxious to have the remains removed to Paris, where so many tombs have been

SINGULAR ACTION AGAINST THE HEIRS OF NAPOLEON III. The Civil Tribunal of the Seine has given judgment on the claim of MM. Plon, publishers of the "Life of Casar," against the heirs of payment of 167,418f, for unsold copies, the expenses of French and Spanish editions, and sums paid by them for translations, not recovered from German and Swedish publishers. It appears that while ou edition do hire was got accorded to M. Plon the right of lessing other editions as a return, it was alleged, for the sacrifices imposed on him by provious Imporial publications. He was authorised to issue three editions, including a obeap one at 4f., the maximum number of copies in all being fixed at 80,000. A certain sum was payable as copyright on each copy, and up to 1867 192,4841, was paid who however, distributed it among those who and assisted him in the work. The first volume according to the plaintiffs, the sule slackened on the completion of the work becoming doubtful, and since 1870 scarcely 25 copies per annum have been disposed of. The result is that they have 22,000 copies on hand, and they demanded permission to sell them off at any price. Their tract-" The Emperor is author of a worl entitled The Life of Julius County " implied a complete work, whereas long before 1870 ite esecution had been abandoned. GOOD NIGHT BY THOMAS BAILET ALDRICH. Good night! I have to say good night To such a host of paerless things ! Good night unto that fragile hand All queenly with its weight of rings. Good night to fond, uplifted eyes, Good night to chestnut braids of hair; Good night unto the perfect mouth, And all the sweetness nestled there-The snowy hand detains me, then

I'll have to say good night again! But there will come a time, my love, When, if I read our stars aright, I shall not linger by this perch With my adious. Till then, good night! You wish the time were now? And I. You do not blush to wish it so? You would have blushed yourself to death To own so much a year ago-What, both these snewy hands! sh, then I'll have to say good night again!
